

LIQUOR LICENCES FOR 1905

ONE NEW TAVERN LICENSE AT HENDRIX GRANTED.

The Midway Tavern License and Second Bottler's License for Gettysburg Turned Down.

When license Court convened on last Friday at 10.30 a. m. before President Judge S. McC. Swope and Associate Judges George H. Trostle and C. D. Smith quite a good-sized audience was present.

"License granted and bond approved" was the official action of the Court upon the thirty-seven applications for licenses for places previously licensed as follows:

Tavern licenses to Augustus Lerew in Arendtsville, Jacob G. Witmer in Bendersville, Reuben Altland in Abbottstown, Aaron Schlosser in Biglerville, Elmer E. Jacobs and Wm. Sunday in East Berlin, Edward D. Hudson in Fairfield, Merville E. Zinn, George J. Kebil in First Ward, Geo. F. Eberhart, John Hughes and Peter M. Bruner in Second Ward, Wm. P. Devine and Elise Brauereuter in Third Ward, Gettysburg, Walter S. Young, Chas. W. Huff and Edgar W. Warren in Littlestown, Lewis Eline and Jeremiah Johns in McSherrystown, Chas. T. Hersh and Francis L. Fleschman in New Oxford, Henry C. Darr and Clinton G. Lerew in York Springs, Jacob Dearthoff in Cashtown, S. V. Bushman in Bonneauville, John M. McKim in Mt. Rock, Walter S. Olewine in Hampton, Frank Mc. Thomas in Hunterstown, Orrin J. Eyler in White Hall and James T. Long at Gettysburg Springs Hotel.

The only thing out of the usual as above licenses were granted was that Mr. Eberhart at the Eagle had no witness to signatures on bond, which was soon remedied, and it appeared that Wm. P. Devine had made a sale of all his hotel goods to a Mr. Prosser, of Princess Anne, Md., who is expected to take possession February 1.

Restaurant licenses were granted and bonds approved to Daniel A. Miller in Abbottstown, P. P. Eisenhart in East Berlin, Edward J. Spahr in Gettysburg, Rudolph J. Fuchs and P. P. McSherry in McSherrystown.

Elias Dillfield was granted a wholesale liquor license in Gettysburg and John Kimple a bottler's license in Gettysburg.

The first of the three new applications to be taken up was that of A. M. F. Shively for a three-story frame hotel at Hendrix Station. There was no remonstrance against application. E. M. Bittinger, son of John R. Bittinger, appeared to be owner of hotel. Counsel represented that Hendrix was about three miles from New Oxford, same distance from Hanover, one mile from Irtistown, same distance from East Berlin Junction, about five miles from Hampton and four from Abbottstown. That at Hendrix Station there were five or six parties engaged in the lime stone business, a brick plant and a store. That there was quite a large amount of business transacted there and point was frequently visited by people from county and abroad. After a few moments conference of the judges license was granted and bond approved.

The next case heard was that of Samuel L. Devine for house at Midway. This point is a settled portion of Conowago township, running between borough of McSherrystown and York county line about a half mile in width. The petition was signed by 111 of the citizens of Conowago township, about 80 from Midway. The remonstrance was signed by 181 persons, larger number from York county, only 33 being male residents of Conowago township. Quite a lot of testimony was taken on question of the necessity of a licensed hotel at place, some insisting that at rate Midway was being built up and factories in near neighborhood it was a necessity to have a hotel where men working in factories could get their meals or board, while other witnesses contended that the boarding houses answered all the needs. After argument the Court said they were satisfied that the applicant was a worthy party, but the necessity of the place had not been shown in the opinion of the Court and license was refused.

The last case heard was that of Edgar H. Raife for bottler's license for the one story building in alley in rear of York street Gettysburg. The application was signed by 71 citizens of the town and the remonstrance by 52 citizens. When applicant took the stand he testified that he was the son-in-law of Karl E. Katz, of York, and that his intention was to build a $7000 bottling and cold storage plant at place asked to be licensed. Those opposing the license being granted called the attention of Court to fact that of the petitioners in favor residing in first ward 14 were real estate owners while 34 owners of land in the ward were on the remonstrance, that on York and adjacent streets, there were 18 in favor and 31 against and on the block directly in rear of which plant was to be placed 2 were in favor and 13 against. It was specially argued that the Court in refusing similar applications in 1903 and 1904 had passed upon question and there was no new reason now. Testimony was offered, quite a number of citizens saying that in their judgment it would be better to have two bottlers than one. That the competition resulted in more care of the trade and a better article. The Court in deciding remarked that in two previous years Lewis Ramer had been refused and they saw no reason to give to a stranger what had been refused to a citizen of the town. During the taking of evidence of applicant Judge Swope asked him whether he knew anything about a dozen bottles of beer recently sent him from York and applicant said he knew nothing about them.

MORE SMALL-POX CASES.

Five of the Cassatt Children Have Taken the Disease.

Dr. Geo. L. Rice, the representative of the State Board of Health of Pennsylvania, made a second visit to the home of Jefferson Cassatt on the Taneytown road on last Friday. As a result thereof he discovered that five of the seven children had developed the disease.

All the children had been vaccinated. It was found that the vaccination had taken on four of the five upon whom the development of disease was found. As a result the disease appeared in a very light form, a varicoid form, and no special danger is anticipated therefrom to the children provided they are carefully nursed. The fifth child found infected was vaccinated but it did not take and a more pronounced type of small-pox has developed in this case but yet it is in a mild form and Dr. Rice was hopeful of this case.

There have been many wild small-pox rumors circulated, none of which can be verified. It has not made its appearance anywhere else. Rumors have been run down by members of the school board of Cumberland township to discover that they were false.

Dr. Rice was assured by the Cassatt family that they would do everything in their power to prevent any contagion and that it was their greatest desire to live up to all the rules expected of them.

The question of fumigation is under consideration of the school board of Cumberland township. There has been little if any practical experience in this matter in this community. The sentiment prevails to a large extent that they should procure some one of experience to attend to same and use the best modern appliances. If the best scientific methods of fumigation are followed when the time of quarantine has expired there need be no uneasiness about after results. And as it is a question that may effect the health and lives of many, the authorities should spare no expense to do it right.

A new case of small-pox developed on Sunday. Howard Weikert, a son-in-law of Jefferson Cassatt, who lives on Taneytown road, a short distance from the Cassatt home has developed the small-pox. He had been in the Cassatt home before the quarantine went into effect. The other members of family living with Howard Weikert are Alex. Hoffman and wife. Vaccination is in progress in that portion of the township and toward Round Top.

There seems to be some fear in York that the School Directors of Cumberland township can successfully resort to the City of York for damages resulting from their too hasty release of Miss Cassatt from the Municipal hospital. Whether or not matter will ever get into Court, there is no question in the minds of those acquainted with facts that the authorities at the Municipal hospital are alone responsible for the condition existing in Cumberland township. Miss Cassatt was not only kept but a short time but when discharged was told to fumigate herself and her own clothes. Any one who has ever been through a fumigation or disinfection as regulated in army or navy, or have seen what the process is at a first-class hospital, will appreciate the absurdity of method at York, and when a patient is turned out on orders on anything less than the most scientific disinfection, the authorities responsible should be compelled to pay the damages and less they cause.

OUR BANKING INSTITUTIONS

PLANS OF NEW BUILDING OF TRUST CO. ARE MATURING.

Dr. John A. Swope Resigns as President of Gettysburg National and Wm. McSherry, Esq., Pres't.

There are plenty of indications to show that the year 1905 is going to be a progressive one for the banking institutions of this place.

It will be only a matter of two months when the Citizens' Trust Company of Gettysburg will take possession of the property purchased from Mrs. Sallie Cox, on Baltimore street. Shortly after the vacation of the tenants an April 1st, the frame building on lot between the Sanders and Huber Drug Store properties, will be torn down and work will begin on erection of new building. The Trust Company has been considering a number of plans submitted and while no general exterior plan has been agreed upon, the plan of the ground floor has been practically agreed upon.

The floor plan not only provides for plenty of room for the officers of the institution but also for the public and includes besides, an office, a room for the President, the Treasurer, a general room for the public and a ladies' room, with every convenience of a modernly equipped bank building. There will be a large vault in building, one part for exclusive use of the Trust Company and a larger portion for the use of the patrons of the Company.

As far as the present intentions have been perfected the building will be a one story building and will be of brick except the front, which will probably be of stone and present an outward appearance of great architectural beauty. The building will undoubtedly be a valuable addition to the town in every way.

Other Bank Improvements.

If we do not mistake the meaning of what is heard there will be decided improvements in the arrangements at Gettysburg National Bank and First National Bank of Gettysburg. There have been rumors of plans for improvements and no doubt these will be for better accommodations of the public.

New Bank President.

The Gettysburg National Bank came forward with a new President last week. The Board of Directors for new year were elected week before last. The election of officers of the Board took place last week.

Dr. John A. Swope, of Washington, D. C., sent in his resignation as President of the bank, desiring to be relieved of the burdens and responsibilities of the position. The presidency of Dr. John A. Swope and his father, George Swope, covered about fifty years.

It was in 1849 that George Swope, after being a director of the bank for sixteen years, was elected President and held the position for thirty years until his death in 1879, when Dr. John A. Swope was elected President to fill the vacancy caused by his father's death. Dr. Swope was President from that time up to his resignation, a period of twenty-five years, except for about four years during the Presidency of Hon. David Wills.

This reign of fifty years of father and son has been marked by a wonderful success of the bank.

The Vice President of the Bank for several years has been Wm. McSherry, and upon the resignation of Dr. John A. Swope Mr. McSherry was elected President; Thomas G. Neely, of York Springs, Vice President and Hon. D. P. McPherson, Secretary. Officers of such efficiency as to mean the continued and enlarging successful management of that institution.

East Berlin Bank.

The Stockholders of the East Berlin National Bank elected the following officers and directors for the ensuing year, President, P. C. Smith; Vice President and Sec'y, I. H. Hoechst; Directors, A. R. Mummet, C. C. Spangler, John Rosserman, Wm. G. Leas and G. Emanuel Spotz.

Fire Near Taneytown.

On last Thursday night, fire destroyed the barn, wagon shed and hog house, owned by Samuel Bricker on the Emmitsburg road near Taneytown. The fire was discovered shortly after 8 o'clock in the fodder stack at one end of the barn, which soon communicated to the building and burned fiercely without the slightest possibility of its being saved, and later the wagon shed and hog house also burned to the ground.

Miss Nettie Clingan, who has lived with Mr. and Mrs. Bricker for many years, was the heroine of the hour, as she entered the burning barn and turned out all of the horses, the cattle were also saved by others who arrived soon. The barn was filled with large quantities of grain and hay, and the wagon shed cribs with corn. The wagons and machinery in the shed were saved. The buildings were all practically new and first-class.

The large new dwelling was saved only because it was covered with slate, and because of the heroic efforts of the neighbors in placing water where it was needed. Mr. Bricker was ill and could render but slight assistance, though there was comparatively little that could be done, except in saving the movable contents of the building. There seems to be little or no doubt that the fodder stack was purposely set on fire, and the strong indignation of the hundreds who gathered was very freely expressed.

Mr. Bricker had insurance, $1,000 on the barn. The contents of the buildings were about 275 bushels of wheat, 6 tons of rye straw, 45 tons of hay, 1800 or 1400 bushels of corn, 13 hogs and shoats, all harness and many smaller items. The loss is thought to be $1000, more than the insurance, at a low estimate.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Two Children Meet Sad Fate in Westminster.

Gladys May, aged 3 years and 6 months, and Albert, aged about 2 years, children of Hamilton Woolery, of Westminster, were so badly burned just before noon Tuesday that the little girl only lived an hour or two and her brother died at 8 o'clock at night. The children were together in a room where there was a very hot stove, with which the little girl's dress came in contact and became ignited. The flames were communicated to the clothing of her brother, one-third of whose person was burned. The hair of the little girl, who was a very pretty child, was burned from her head; all her clothing, except her shoes were destroyed, and her body charred to a crisp.

Villainous Work.

When the public school building was opened last Thursday morning in McSherrystown, both rooms bore evidence that a gang of miscreants had entered the night before and took selfish delight in disarranging the orderly condition of the rooms. Books, tablets, school companions, pencils and pens were scattered over the desks and floors, the locks broken on the book-closets and everything which could be moved was overturned.

The desk of Miss Corrigan, teacher of School No. 1, was broken open and the contents disturbed, but the only article missing was a small pocket knife. A number of burnt matches were found on the floor which would indicate that the work was hastily done. Entrance was gained by tearing the wire screen from one of the windows and raising the sash. A detective is now working on the case and enough evidence has been secured to lead to the belief that the miscreants will soon be apprehended.

Hanover Postmastership.

There is going to be a lively scrap over the Hanover Postmastership. The term of E. G. Eckert expires on February 7 and the fight is at its height now. Mr. Eckert is again a candidate for the office and is being opposed by at least four other candidates. G. Milton Bair, who was a candidate when Mr. Eckert was appointed, has secured the signatures of over fifty leading Republicans, of Hanover, and is making a fight for it. Dr. R. N. Meisenholder is an aspirant, also Councilman Stokes and H. B. Winebrenner, who at present time is employed in the post office. The candidates are seeking backing in York. What Congressman Lafean will do is the unknown quantity. He has not as yet declared himself for any of the candidates. If he makes a choice he will likely land his man.

Another Dream Dissolves

J. Mac. Wolff, manager of the Chambersburg, Greencastle and Waynesboro trolley company makes a statement most emphatically denying the story going the rounds of the papers that his road will be extended from Pen-Mar to Gettysburg. He says he did not write a letter to any one intimating anything of the kind.

Mrs. George Yingling, the oldest resident of Adams county, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Flickinger, in Berwick township at the age of 102 years on Tuesday of last week. It was not age that necessarily brought about the end for her physician says that heart disease and dropsy was the cause of her death. She was born in Adams county, near East Berlin, her maiden name being Deardorff and lived for more than a century in the county.

Darling Grace, she has left us:
Left us, yes, for evermore;
But we hope to meet our loved one
On that bright and happy shore.
There was an angel band in heaven
That was not quite complete,
So God took our darling Grace
To fill the vacant seat.

THE FAMILY.

In loving remembrance of Mary J. Aumen who died May 28th 1904.
Earth has lost its look of gladness,
Heaven seems to us more bright,
Since the spirit of our dear ones
Took their happy, homeward flight.

Long to rest upon that shore,
There to see, and know, and love them
With the Savior, evermore.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE.

Darr—Sponsellar.

Jails are not without their romances and there may be worse places to be married in was evidently the opinion of above parties. Jacob Darr is the Sheriff's turnkey and while Lizzie Sponsellar was a recent boarder, became enamored with her. What might have happened to the turnkey if this boarder had not returned to stony-lonesome is hard to tell. Or it may have been a set up job to have a honeymoon in jail. At least upon the return of the bride Darr makes up his mind and Monday evening Justice Wm. P. Quimby is sent for to tie up the parties. The Sheriff and family and other witnesses to the number of ten were present and after the knot had been tied the Sheriff provided a fine oyster supper with which to wind up the celebration.

A MISUNDERSTANDING

MY FRIENDS have asked me why I have gone out of business. Such is not the case. The reason why my partner and I dissolved partnership was on account of his moving to the country. I will continue to carry on the business myself, and so I disposed of all my old stock entirely. I have nothing but a new line of goods such as the people of Gettysburg have needed for awhile. It will pay you to call and see me, or write me a postal and I will call and see you. I am better than ever prepared to treat my customers right, both in prices and in good lasting work. I solicit your patronage. Don't forget the number.

This sale is a greater event than any ever held by us before—because of the deeper price cut.

We hold superior advantages in the buying of garments because we use more than the average of half a dozen stores put together. We believe, however, that the new prices will clean stock quickly.

It is difficult to give descriptions, because of so many kinds—yet so few of a size or kind—we have, therefore, made a LOT CUT combining certain lines under one price, of which we give you a hint here.

ADVICE TO A FOOL.

If the world don't do exactly as you think it ought to do,      Get mad ;

If you meet with opposition, get a tooth-some rag to chew—      Get mad ;

Get as mad as hops, and show it ;      Get mad ;

Feed your anger, fan it, blow it ;      Get mad ;

Put and let the whole world know it—      Get mad !

If the joke you tried to spring upon the other fellow turns,      Get mad ;

If you get the poker's portion that invariably burns,      Get mad ;

Play the baby, whine and blubber      Get mad ;

Like the rankest sort of lubber      Get mad ;

While the gamins guy and rubber—      Get mad !

If you step upon a nigger peel and stand upon your skill,      Get mad ;

Never smile and make a joke of it, or folks will think you dull—      Get mad ;

Turn and frown upon the spot      Get mad ;

Where the pavement quickly shot      Get mad ;

Up and gave you such a swat—      Get mad !

If you want to be a pleasure to the world you're living in.      Get mad ;

If you'd keep the people's faces always wrinkled with a grin.      Get mad ;

For there's nothing else so funny      Get mad ;

On this mundane sphere, my honey,      Get mad ;

As the man that's never sunny—      Get mad !

Is the Rattler's Venom Fatal?

One of the oldest controversies among zoologists is whether the venom of the rattler is fatal. On the one hand are experts, who point to instances where men have survived its bite; on the other are scientists who cite long lists of those paying eloquent tribute to the prowess of the viper.

According to chemical analysis the poison of a rattlesnake consists of 95 per cent. of blood destroying element and 5 per cent. of nerve destroying element—a fact which explains the dreadful suffering of the victims of this reptile. Rattlesnake poison acts on the human veins exactly as does acid when poured into a metal pipe. Like the acid, the poison attacks the walls of the veins, eating and gnawing through them and destroying the red corpuscles of the blood, never ceasing until the very walls of the heart are gnawed, bringing that organ to a standstill. Quick blood poisoning is the real cause of this frightful death: for, into the brief space of two hours or less is crowded the excruciating pain of an ordinary case of blood poisoning extending over several weeks. The victim's body turns purple and black. It swells to two or three times its size. The man cries in agony under the torture of a burning inside as if melted iron were coursing through his arteries.

To enumerate more than a few instances among the thousands of human victims of the rattlesnake's venom is manifestly impossible. But here are several that illustrate the wonderful activity of the poison and that have come to the personal notice of Mr. Dimars:

While hunting quail in Georgia, a physician was struck in an artery in the groin by a rattlesnake which he startled when sitting down to eat lunch. Despite the efforts of a second physician who was in the party, the man lay stretched in death within ten minutes.

Not many years ago Washington University lost one of its professors who was experimenting with a young rattler whose head had just been chopped off. Supposing life extinct the expert stooped to pick up the severed head, when the mouth opened and the fangs fastened themselves in a death grip.

NEW THOUGHTS.

Are you growing more attractive as you advance in life?

"Given a healthy body," says Dr. R. V. Pierce, the specialist in woman's diseases, of Buffalo, N. Y., "and a healthy mind, and everyone can cultivate and enjoy happiness."

We must eat properly and digest well to be beautiful. It is a fact that any form of dyspepsia may in a few days transform a clear, white skin into a mass of pimples and black spots. A beautiful woman has the beauty of her stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery maintains a person's nutrition by enabling one to eat, retain, digest, and assimilate the proper nutritious food. It overcomes the gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion, and thus the person is saved from those symptoms of fever, night-sweats, headache, etc., which are so common. A tonic made up largely of alcohol will shrink the corpuscles of the blood and make them weaker for resistance.

"This is to certify that I have used Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, think it's the greatest medicine in the world," writes Mrs. V. M. Young, of West, W. Va. "I had dyspepsia in its worst form. I decided to try your medicine. I used five bottles, and now I am doing my own housework. A number of my friends also are using Dr. Pierce's medicine and they recommend it highly. May God bless you in your grand work."

Dr. Pierce believes that a tonic made with alcohol will shrink the red blood corpuscles and make the system weak for resistance; that is why he avoided the use of any alcohol or narcotics in his "Medical Discovery," which contains the pure extract from roots and herbs without a particle of alcohol. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing just as good for dyspepsia or debility. Millions are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

THE above picture of the man and fish is the trademark of Scott's Emulsion, and is the synonym for strength and purity. It is sold in almost all the civilized countries of the globe.

If the cod fish became extinct it would be a world-wide calamity, because the oil that comes from its liver surpasses all other fats in nourishing and life-giving properties. Thirty years ago the proprietors of Scott's Emulsion found a way of preparing cod liver oil so that everyone can take it and get the full value of the oil without the objectionable taste. Scott's Emulsion is the best thing in the world for weak, backward children, thin, delicate people, and all conditions of wasting and lost strength.

grip. In two hours the professor was dead.

Many similar instances might be cited, but Mr. Dimars' own experience with a rattlesnake's venom illustrates even better the virulence of the poison. One of the rattlesnakes in the reptile house having died, the curator skinned it and stripped the skeleton for mounting. Two months after the bones had been bleached he scratched the tip of a forefinger with one of the fangs, barely puncturing the skin. The insignificant prick was promptly cauterized and bandaged, yet within ten minutes the poison was at work. The finger inflamed with alarming rapidity; within two hours the entire arm was attacked and was swollen to double its natural size, and that night the curator went to a hospital. Nine weeks he lay in the hospital and seven times he was on the operating table before it was decided that his arm, scarred, curved and permanently stiffened, would not have to be amputated. —A. W. Rolker in "Pearson's Magazine."

Capitol Three Fourths Done.

More than 75 per cent. of the work contracted for the new State Capitol, at Harrisburg, has been performed, according to a report filed by the Capitol Building Commission last week with the Legislature.

The report also states that the Senate and House chambers and the committee rooms, which have been placed in condition for occupancy by the present Legislature, are not yet completed. Edwin A. Abbey is in London, painting the mural decorations for the dome; George Grey Barnard, who is in Paris, has his sculpture for the exterior well under way, and Miss Violet Oakley, of Philadelphia, will shortly finish the mural decorations for the grand executive reception room.

Of the $4,000,000 appropriated for the Capitol, approximately $2,700,000 has been expended, in conformity with the contracts, leaving a balance of $1,300,000, all of which, the commission reports, will be required during the present year.

The commission recommends that the present Legislature make provision for turning the building over to the State when it is completed next January.

The Jumping Frogs of Texas.

This frog story comes from Terlingua, Tex. Mark Twain is not its author:

At the mines of the Chisos Mining Company, while Mexicans were at a depth of about twenty-five feet, they blasted a large number of frogs out of the solid rock. They came singly, and by twos and threes, and in several instances whole families.

One frog was in the center of the vein of cinnabar and had taken on the red color of the ore. On being released from their abode of centuries the frog instantly hopped around with as much life as our ordinary frogs.

DR. F. COWAN SERIOUSLY ILL

Lecturer at Institute Has Built His Coffin After Viking Boat.

Many citizens in town and county will remember Dr. Frank Cowan as a lecturer at institutes of a score or more years ago. Prof. Aaron Sheely in recalling memories of institutes held when he was county superintendent has been heard to tell interesting incidents about Dr. Cowan. There is a promise that in his approaching end and funeral there may be as much eccentricity as marked his life.

Dr. Frank Cowan in his three-score of years has been private secretary to President Andrew Johnson, physician, lawyer, poet, composer of music, lecturer and historian, and is approaching his end at his country home near Greensburg, Pa.

"A scion by heredity of Scandinavia, a scion of an interminable line of seagoers and old salts and barnacles in the dead and buried past," as this remarkable man styles himself, he has asked that he be buried in accordance with the custom of the old Viking kings. His coffin has been constructed under his supervision, his grave dug, his funeral arrangements made.

Propped up in bed, Dr. Cowan has written a lengthy treatise—the last to go from his pen to the printer, he declares.

"My coffin," he writes, "is in reality a symbolic boat. It is modeled crudely after several of the 'clinker' built boats which have been dug from the peat bogs of Northwestern Europe. And so modeled and symbolic, every part of it, from the mare's head in the prow to the red paint on every part of it and its contents, two oars and a trident of peculiar shape, is one thing to the eye and another to the understanding.

Coffin a Norse Fire Boat.

"In a word, it represents the fireship of our old sea-roving forebears at the time the old and new religions were interlarded more or less. It symbolizes the fire boat in which the dead body of a Bersecker or Viking was placed by his friends and attendants, fired and then set adrift with an ebbing tide in the then illimitable ocean of the West with these all-involving ideas in the act—that the dead, simulating the setting or dying sun, in a blaze of glory, might sink into the womb of ocean, the womb of the West, or the womb of the world, to be born again."

Dr. Cowan's funeral arrangements breathe the spirit of his environments. Everything about his big farm is symbolic of some figure in Norse mythology.

Author of Famous Hoax.

Dr. Cowan is a son of U. S. Senator Edgar Cowan, and was born in Greensburg on Dec. 11, 1814. He is widely known as an author.

He is best known in the scientific world on account of his article, "The Hvidsaerk Inscription at the Falls of the Potomac," which narrated that a party of Norwegians had settled at Cape Cod long before Columbus cast anchor in the West Indies.

A part of this colony made its way southward along the coast, up the Chesapeake to the falls of the Potomac, where one of their number died. The place of burial was marked with a stone suitably engraved.

To substantiate his article Dr. Cowan covered a storebox with sand and traced upon it Norse hieroglyphics. A photograph of this was sent to Washington. Scientific men all over the world became interested and asked for further information, but it was not forthcoming, and the excitement gradually died out.

To this day the "runic hoax" causes a laugh among scientists.

Brave Girl Fights Highwayman

Miss Helen Turner, of Lexington, Va., was held up by a highwayman in Botetourt county last week while returning from a visit to Mrs. Edward Dillon, near Indian Rock. She refused to surrender her valuables and drew a pistol on her assailant, who did likewise, and the two fired simultaneously. Miss Turner was shot in the breast, the ball passing above her heart and coming out under her arm. The man was unhurt. Miss Turner thinks, and rode away.

Though painfully injured the young lady kept her seat, although her horse, frightened by the shots, dashed away. She pluckily stuck to her saddle and was carried by the horse back to Mrs. Dillon's, where she now lies seriously, but not fatally injured. Mrs. Dillon offered a reward of $100 for the capture of the highwayman, and search is being made for him.

Miss Turner describes her assailant as being a tall white man, about 30 years of age, with a black mustache and wearing a black slouch hat.

She says that the man suddenly stepped into the road, stopped her horse and demanded her money. When she told him she had none he caught hold of her and attempted to drag her from the saddle. Then followed the shooting episode. Miss Turner is a very attractive young lady and is a relative of T. P. Turner of this place.

FORTUNE HINGES ON A LINE

Was Drawn Across Will Making Bequest to Dr. Snively.

Upon the question as to who drew a single pencil line across the will of Emma Hutchinson of Philadelphia, hinges the point whether her estate of $17,000 will go to Dr. I. Newton Snively, son-in-law of John W. Tipton, who lately removed from here to Philadelphia, or to the Commonwealth, with incidentally a big slice of it to Griffith Jones, an informer. Miss Hutchinson was the sister of John Hutchinson, an aged cabinetmaker, who died six years ago. After her death, in 1900, the will bequeathing the $17,000 to Dr. Snively, her physician, was found.

Jones, however, had learned that the woman had left some property and that she had no natural heirs. He so informed the Auditor General, being appointed escheator, with right to a third of the estate should the money revert to the State.

It was then discovered that a single pencil mark had been drawn across the page on which the bequests had been set forth. Counsel for Jones asserted that the pencil mark had been made by Miss Hutchinson and that the will was void. Counsel for physician expects to prove that some meddler or malicious person came across the will during Miss Hutchinson's illness and started to alter it. Assistant District Attorney Taulane, who was appointed by the Orphan's Court to investigate the case, has decided that everything depends on whether Miss Hutchinson or some one else drew the line.

The Man Behind the Plow

If there is any one thing that a successful farmer knows better than another, it is that there are not half enough farmers in the settled portions of this country as yet. Not half the land is tilled as it should be, and not half the results are derived from the land that it is capable of producing.

There has been a disposition on the part of farmers of late years to look about and take notice. Many farmers learned of themselves that to farm thoroughly, rather than carelessly, even though their operations were not so extensive, was more satisfactory, and always more profitable. As a matter of fact, farming cannot be other than profitable if due consideration is given to the business end of it. There are so many elements entering into it that farming may be termed a business or profession, rather than a mere occupation or calling. The successful farmer has a system, and he never farms by chance. His fields grow crops, and failures are unknown on his land. One such successful farmer in a community serves as an object-lesson to all who will observe. His light is not under a bushel, nor even a half-bushel. Such a man welcomes inspection and values discussion.

One of the most successful farmers in this county (Wayne County, Indiana), noted for his thorough farming, whose success lies in thorough methods and profits rather than extensive operations, harvested this fall a crop of corn on land which three years ago was not capable of producing any kind of grain crop. This corn is simply perfect, and there were eighty bushels to the acre and fifteen acres in the field. The first thing this man did after he bought the land was to thoroughly prepare this poor field for clover. He sowed the seed, and the crop came on with a good stand. That clover was not cut, but was left to ripen and fall upon the ground. For two years this plan was followed, and late last fall the field was plowed deep and thoroughly. This spring the harrow and the disc were put on, and the ground made fine and loose. The corn was drilled in rows three and one half feet apart and twelve inches in the row. Thorough cultivation was given, but it was not different in character from the plan usually followed in the neighborhood. The only fact significant in the history of this corn crop was the preparation of the ground for producing the crop. That field had become famous for its poor crops. The purchaser was pitted by half the people who heard that he had bought the land. He adopted the simplest and cheapest way to bring the ground back to a producing basis. He was out of the use of the land two years, for he did not even pasture the clover, but that figures small when compared with the profits from this one crop.

SIDNEY JUSTUS.

Sidney Justus, fruit dealer, of Mentor, Ohio, says: "I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a severe case of kidney trouble of eight or ten years' standing. I suffered the most severe backache and other pains in the region of the kidneys. These were especially severe when stooping to lift anything, and often I could hardly straighten my back. The aching was bad in the daytime, but just as bad at night, and I was always lame in the morning. I was bothered with rheumatic pains and dropsical swelling of the feet. The urinary passages were painful, and the secretions were discolored and so free that often I had to rise at night. I felt tired all day. Half a box served to relieve me, and three boxes effected a permanent cure."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Justus will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

COMMITTEE.
THE USE OF DISCUSSIONS
The discussion of question whether school directors should allow the use of school houses for election purposes was one of the most interesting subjects the School Directors' Association has ever considered. It was a practical question which elicited many views and there was a unity of conclusion that the school houses should not be so used. The criticism to be offered is not as to the subject matter but that the School Directors' Association had it to so little purpose. When the directors were of one mind why did they not resolve to do something. There is little use in having opinions unless there is the opportunity to put them into force. The discussion of the subject should have been followed by a resolution by which it could have been agreed that the school directors would not hereafter permit such use of the school houses. If such a resolution had passed the association could have taken action on it by the appointment of a committee to try to put an end to such use. Such a committee could have ascertained in how many districts school houses were so used and could then have brought the matter to the attention of the County Commissioners and have made it plain that it was the purpose to prohibit this use of the school houses and that the county would be given several years time to make other arrangements. It is probable not more than twenty election houses would have to be erected to provide every township. This might be done at a total cost of $5,000 to $10,000 and stretched out over a period of two or three years this improvement could be brought about without county feeling expense in any way. Election houses would be of great use in the townships, not only for holding elections but for all kinds of political and public meetings. Many such buildings might be erected during the year for various purposes so as to repay the interest on the sum invested in them. The election house of Butler township

THE USE OF DISCUSSIONS
The discussion of question whether school directors should allow the use of school houses for election purposes was one of the most interesting subjects the School Directors' Association has ever considered. It was a practical question which elicited many views and there was a unity of conclusion that the school houses should not be so used. The criticism to be offered is not as to the subject matter but that the School Directors' Association had it to so little purpose. When the directors were of one mind why did they not resolve to do something. There is little use in having opinions unless there is the opportunity to put them into force. The discussion of the subject should have been followed by a resolution by which it could have been agreed that the school directors would not hereafter permit such use of the school houses. If such a resolution had passed the association could have taken action on it by the appointment of a committee to try to put an end to such use. proving to be very useful, demonstrating the reason why each district should have like houses. All this the school directors might help to bring about by resolution and action and thus make their organization more effective for good results.

HITCHING POSTS.
The position of the "Compiler" in matter of hitching posts seems to have been misunderstood. A friend from the country says that if Gettysburg is going to prohibit hitching posts it would result in many farmers driving to other towns to do their buying and so hurt the business of the town. It was intimated that lack of these conveniences had taken people to other places. Our position on the hitching post question is in favor of posts on the curb of the pavements and against posts two or three feet from the pavement, actually standing in the street and such an improvement should encourage instead of discourage farmers to come to this town. The objection to hitching posts in the street where the farmer drives along is to get out of his way a danger of striking the post and tearing a wheel off his vehicle. We have seen in our day many teams graze these posts, strike them, break off the posts and have seen a conveyance become wedged by getting the post inside of the wheel instead of on the outside. These accidents have demonstrated the dangerousness of hitching posts in the streets. This does not however apply to hitching posts on the curb of the pavement, to which a team can be hitched nearer to the pavement and give a clearer space to the beaten track. Let there be as many hitching posts on the curb of the pavement as our citizens will erect. A civic improvement recently discussed by the Civic Club is one that ought to appeal to our business people in view of what our friend said to us. This was whether a plot of ground could be obtained upon which a protecting shed could be erected so as to afford good hitching accommodations for the people from the country. The discouraging feature was whether such a plot of ground could be obtained centrally located. It is a good idea, worth thinking about and worth carrying out if a suitable plot could be obtained.

JUDGES SALARY ACT.
Increase Has Not Yet Been Paid—New Complications.
The Judges Salary Act is having troubles of its own and should have until declared unconstitutional as to all officers in officials at time act went into force. The act was to go into force Jan. 1, 1904. The salary of the Judge of the Adams-Fulton district was increased from $4,000 to $5,000. The additional $1,000 was not paid to Judge Swope.

The payment to him and all judges then in office was arrested until the question could be determined whether the act was constitutional. One Justice on the Supreme Bench was known to have openly declared that he would never take the increase, as it could not be given him constitutionally.

When the case reached the Supreme Court, all the Justices were interested in the question but one, Justice Thompson, and the question was referred to him for decision. Notwithstanding the fact that Justice Thompson is a Democrat for whom we entertain the highest respect, we do not agree with his decision that the law is constitutional, for when the Constitution declares that the salary of no officer shall be increased or diminished while holding office, this means Judges as well as all other kinds of officials.

The decision was no sooner handed down than a bill was presented in the United States Court to restrain the State Treasurer from paying the increased salaries, among other reasons because the opinion of the Supreme Court was not the opinion of the entire Court but of an individual Justice and for this reason the United States Court was asked to decide the matter. Attorney General Carson took position that United States Court had no jurisdiction. Judge McPherson, of Philadelphia after hearing the arguments on the matter last week decided that question was a matter which could not be decided by a United States court. Pending Judge McPherson's decision the State Treasurer would not pay the increase. Unless there is an appeal from Judge McPherson's decision payment will not be made.

The question of the increase in dispute only applies in Judge Swope's case to the $1,000 increase of last year. This year he begins a new term and of course under the new law, giving him $5,000 there can be no question that he is legally and constitutionally entitled to this sum each year of the new term.

Frances E. Willard Statue.
At the instance of Mr. Cullom the U. S. Senate adopted a resolution setting February 17, at 3 P. M., as the time for receiving the statue of Frances E. Willard, the temperance advocate, contributed by the State of Illinois to statutory hall in the capitol. The statue will be the first figure of a woman to be placed in statutory hall.

Townsmen Erings Suit.
Hon. Wm. A. Martin of this place through his counsel W. C. Sheely, Esq. of Gettysburg and J. M. Rhey, Esq. of Carlisle has sued the South Mountain Mining and Iron company in Cumberland county to recover the sum of $1400 on a promissory note with interest and protest fees.

House Committees.
Messrs. C. L. Longsdorff and Robt. H. Wilson together landed eight places on the committees in the House of Representatives, each of them getting four.

Mr. Longsdorff was appointed on the Committees of Agriculture, Banks, Constitutional Reform, and Labor and Industry.

Mr. Wilson was appointed on the Committees of Federal Relations, Fish and Game, Legislative Apportionment and Library.

Lake Royer Ice Harvest.
The Buena Vista Ice Company is installing an electrical plant in order to be able to continue the ice harvest on Lake Royer day and night owing to the season being short. The line circles the lake requiring thirty poles on which there will be a cluster of three lamps of 50 candle power on each. The front of the building containing the machinery will be illuminated and within the buildings, there being nine of them, there will be three clusters of lamps in each. Next summer the capacity of the plant will be increased in order to supply current for lighting private residences in that section. The company is employing over a hundred men cutting ice. Six tons are being cut each minute and a tremendous harvest will be gathered.

SEALED PROPOSALS.
SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the State Highway Department of Pennsylvania, under the Act approved April 15, 1904, for the construction of 2,500 feet of road extending from the thorough line of Littlestown to a point on the road leading to Maryland, in Germany township, in the County of Adams. Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of the County Commissioners, Gettysburg, Pa., and at the office of the State Highway Department at Harrisburg, Pa. Bidding blanks will be furnished by the State Highway Department upon request. Bids must be endorsed "Proposals for Construction of Road in Germany Township, Adams County," and received at the office of the State Highway Department not later than February 24th, 1905.

ASSIGNEE'S NOTICE.

INQUIRY OF COMPILER BRINGS SUCH ALLEGED MACHINES TO LIGHT.
Two weeks ago the COMPILER asked the serious question whether gambling machines exist in Adams county. A quick answer has been given. The constable of one of the wards of McSherrytown reported to the Court the existence of two such alleged machines. He says he saw the question the COMPILER asked and he had to do his duty and report the machines. He says he has seen boys in front of a slot machine playing the game or whatever it is. He describes the working this way. A nickel is dropped in the slot, a turn is given to a crank and then either a small pot of nickels is won or the nickel is lost. Of course more frequently the loss takes place. If such are the characters of these machines—and the constable says if there is one in McSherrytown there are at least fifteen of them in that town—they are gambling machines pure and simple. They should be suppressed. The authorities need not prosecute to suppress. Let the order go forth from the proper officials that these machines must go and they will disappear.

SENATOR D. P. McPHERSON.
Captures Position on Goodly Number of Senate Committees.
The standing committees of the State Senate were announced on last Wednesday and Adams county's representative, Senator Donald P. McPherson, succeeded in capturing positions on quite a number of the committees and was made chairman of one.

He is chairman of the Committee on Forestry and it can be expected that he will help along the good work of the State in that direction. In addition he is on the Committees on Appropriations, Corporations, Education, Judiciary General, Library, New Counties and County Seats, Public Grounds and Buildings, and Public Roads and Highways, nine in all.

A Story of Three Horse Blankets.
On Saturday evening, Jan. 14 Levi Senft, of Hamilton township, Harry Slagle, of Oxford township, and Moses Myers, Mountpleasant township, each had a blanket taken from their teams at the Eagle Hotel stables New Oxford, whilst Peter Long, of Oxford township, had a number of sacks taken from his buggy at the same time and place, no doubt the sacks were taken for a blanket. Suspicion pointed very strongly toward several parties but owing to the late hour nothing was done in regard to the matter until Monday, when search warrants were issued by Justice R. M. Straley to Constable Martin Heltzel ordering him to search the premises of John T. McIntire, of near New Chester, Straban township. At noon the constable accompanied by Messrs. Slagle, Senft and Long, left for the McIntire home and returned later with all the goods. They were held for an investigation to decide whether or not the parties will be prosecuted for larceny. It seems that McIntire and his son were under the influence of liquor and hold to the opinion that some one placed the blankets in their buggy, which was standing at the hotel, for a trick. This was the accepted explanation and nothing further was done.

THE USE OF DISCUSSIONS
The discussion of question whether school directors should allow the use of school houses for election purposes was one of the most interesting subjects the School Directors' Association has ever considered. It was a practical question which elicited many views and there was a unity of conclusion that the school houses should not be so used. The criticism to be offered is not as to the subject matter but that the School Directors' Association had it to so little purpose. When the directors were of one mind why did they not resolve to do something. There is little use in having opinions unless there is the opportunity to put them into force. The discussion of the subject should have been followed by a resolution by which it could have been agreed that the school directors would not hereafter permit such use of the school houses. If such a resolution had passed the association could have taken action on it by the appointment of a committee to try to put an end to such use. Such a committee could have ascertained in how many districts school houses were so used and could then have brought the matter to the attention of the County Commissioners and have made it plain that it was the purpose to prohibit this use of the school houses and that the county would be given several years time to make other arrangements. It is probable not more than twenty election houses would have to be erected to provide every township. This might be done at a total cost of $5,000 to $10,000 and stretched out over a period of two or three years this improvement could be brought about without county feeling expense in any way. Election houses would be of great use in the townships, not only for holding elections but for all kinds of political and public meetings. Many such buildings might be erected during the year for various purposes so as to repay the interest on the sum invested in them. The election house of Butler township

CAVALRY HORSES.
English Military Method of Training
Them to Swim.
The most interesting and amusing of all the sights of Aldershot, England, is the big reservoir, or lake, where cavalry horses from all parts of the world are trained to swim with a thoroughness that rivals even the Italian system
of horse training.
It is well known, by the way, that cavalry horses in the Italian army go through almost as much training as though they were intended for a circus,
and the writer has often been amazed
to see patrician Roman officers riding their fine chargers down steep flights of stone stairs and down especially constructed precipices which look as though they were especially invented to encompass the destruction of both horse and rider.
Again, the writer witnessed the astonishing army maneuvers of the Italian troops in the river Arno at Florence and also at Spezzia, the great naval arsenal of Italy. The Count of Turin was seen leading his regiment
"out to sea," the prince often dis-mounting and himself swimming with one arm about his charger's neck.
The newly received horses at Aldershot, however, coming as they do mostly from inland regions, have a deep seated objection to the water, and as their riders are for the most part scintillatingly clad indeed the struggles between tutor and "pupils" are ludicrous in the extreme. If it is found absolutely impossible to coax the animals into water deeper than their knees or girths collapsible boats are used and the refractory animal dragged by main force
beyond his depth, when he has to swim for dear life.—H. G. Roberts in Harper's Weekly.

MONKEY FACED OWLS.
A Queer River Cliff Colony in Southern California.
On the banks of the Santa Ana river,
in southern California, is a queer colony. It is situated in the cliffs which rise above the surface of the river and has a multitude of inhabitants. In passing along the river by daylight one would not imagine that the cliffs were inhabited, for the members of the colony are fast asleep in the chambers of the cliffs. But at dusk there is a change. At every one of the openings with which the cliffs are perforated appears a countenance so human-like in its expression that the beholder is apt to imagine that these must be the faces of the pixies and elves of whom he delighted to hear in his childhood days.
The tiny faces belong to a family having a name nearly as large as the individuals are small. It is the family of Strix pratensis, or monkey faced
owl. So much do their faces resemble those of human features that they are often called the human faced owl. In the holes of the cliffs they pass their days and rear their young. At night they emerge in flocks and search the fields for mice, gophers and insects, upon which they live. This owl does not hoot as do most owls, but utters
a low, chuckling whistle as it flies
about in search of prey.
Farmers and fruit raisers in southern California are warm friends of the bird, for it destroys many of the pests which annoy them and injure their crops. The eggs of the little owl are white, and five or six form a litter.—

Bill Nye's Cow.
Bill Nye, the humorist, once had a cow to sell and advertised her as follows:
"Owing to my ill health I will sell at my residence, in township 19, range 18, according to the government's survey, one plash raspberry cow, aged eight years. She is of undoubted courage and gives milk frequently. To a man who does not fear death in any form she would be a great boon. She is very much attached to her present home with a stay chain, but she will be sold to any one who will agree to treat her right. She is one-fourth Shorthorn and three-quarters byetta. I will also throw in a double barrel shotgun, which goes with her. In May she usually goes away for a week or two and returns with a tall red calf with wobbly legs. Her name is Rose. I would rather sell her to a nonresident."
The Hen Did Her Best.
A faithful farmer relates that he put
a porcelain egg in the nest of a hen and found that the eggs she laid were of increased size. Then he put a goose egg in the nest. The hen laid an egg just as large. He was so pleased with the scheme that he put a whitewashed football in the nest. When he went the next time to search for eggs he found one as big as a football, but no hen in sight. Securing the egg, he saw engraved on it by hen photography these words, "I'm no ostrich, but I've done my best." Later he found the hen inside the egg.
She Gave Him the Hint.
Mother—I can't have that young man staying here so late at night. You must give him a hint of some kind.
Daughter (in the evening)—I am very much afraid something will happen to you on the streets at night. You must be more careful of yourself and not be out so late. If anything should happen to you I'd—I'd die. (They are engaged.)
Marital Amenities.

"What for?" asked his wife.
"Then I can at least get a word in

A DELINEATOR OF HEROES
[Original.]
I am a tenderfoot, or, rather, I was a tenderfoot, but there's not a man in New Mexico who cares to cross my path. The terror I inspire does not come from my bravery, my skill with the revolver or my strength. I am rather timid. I couldn't hit a barn door with a bullet, and I am but five foot three.
Now, how do I strike terror into the citizens of this region? I will tell you.
When I came out to this benighted
country, with my delicately cut cameo
face, my six and a half lady's kid
hand and my 5A shoe, I was considered too insignificant to be noticed by the more manly inhabitants, but was subjected to continued annoyances by those who were mean enough to take advantage of my diminutive size. But one man really threatened me, and I have always excused him, for I fell in love with his daughter, and the worst of it was she preferred me and my intellectual tastes to the muscular bullet perforating men of the frontier.
When Bill Stanhope, Lucy's father, learned how the land lay he informed me in the extravagant language of New Mexico that if he ever caught me
with Lucy he would "let enough sunshine through me to light a church."
I was riding one day through a lonely valley and on emerging from a wood saw in an open space just below me
two men approaching each other on horseback. At first I supposed they were riding up to have a talk, but suddenly one of them raised a Winchester and fired at the other. Then I saw that they were Zeb Gallagher,
the most dreaded desperado in New Mexico, and Bill Stanhope. I saw Stanhope's hat fall to the ground and concluded the bullet had knocked it off. He took it mighty coolly, I thought—I didn't know that he happened to be short of cartridges—rode on slowly without firing till he got within better range, then raised his rifle, took a sure aim and fired. There was a rapid exchange of shots after this for a few seconds, neither man doing much damage.
It looked as if I had one chance in ten to be relieved of the man who stood between me and happiness, but somehow I thought of Lucy and how her father's death would break her heart and wondered what I had better do. Stanhope had come to within a hundred yards of me; Gallagher was still 500 yards away. The first thing I knew Gallagher threw away his rifle and came on the gallop for Stanhope with his revolver. I knew by this that he was out of ammunition and looked for Stanhope to kill him with a rifle bullet before he came up. But Stanhope was evidently in the same fix,
for he, too, dropped his rifle and began firing with his revolver. I counted eleven shots between the two, then I saw Stanhope toss his revolver to the ground, fold his arms and sit quietly in the saddle, evidently waiting for Gallagher to finish him. Gallagher deliberately examined his revolver, and taking five cartridges from his pocket,
added them to the one left there.
While he was doing so I dismounted,
and, scurrying along on foot behind low bushes, darted up to Stanhope and handed him my revolver. As Gallagher was putting in the last cartridge Stanhope shot him dead.
I never shall forget the expression on Stanhope's face as he turned his eyes from his falling enemy and rested them on me, without whose timely interference he would by this time have been a dead man. He looked me all over from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet, apparently struggling up to a realization of the fact that he was indebted for his life to such an infinitesimal specimen of a man.
"Sonny," he said presently, "what did you do it for?"
"Well, to tell you the truth, Mr.
Stanhope, at first I hoped he'd down
you; then I'd be free to marry Lucy.
But when I came to consider how she would feel about it I wanted you to win."
"I didn't suppose you could talk so near like a man. You own me, since if it hadn't been for you I'd have been a dead man this minute. You can have Lucy, but what are you going to do with her? You can never live in peace among people who don't fear you. I'll tell you what we can do. I'll inform the community that it was you who killed Gallagher."
"That's an idea," I replied.
"What do you want to make of yourself?" he asked after a pause.
"I want to run my little ranch and scribble." "Scribble what?"
"Stories, articles, anything in the literary line."
"Well, you go home, and hereafter
you'll be known as the man who killed Gallagher. I reckon you won't be persecuted much after that job. And so far as Lucy is concerned, why, if she's willing to take a man who has more respect for a pen than a revolver I suppose under the altered circumstances
she'll have to have her own way."
The next day when I appeared at the postoffice an opening was made for me by those waiting, and every man took off his hat. I have ever since been a terror to all the men and the admiration of all the women. My wife and her father are the only two persons who know the secret, and the former has so long seen me treated like a brave and desperate man that she has
at last come to believe that I am one.
But this may be on account of the many brave and desperate heroes I have drawn in my stories. My friends say that no one but a daredevil could ever depict such remarkable coolness
and courage.

WOMEN IN TROUSERS.
In Champery, Switzerland, the Sight
Causes No Comment.
It will probably be news to many advocates of feminine dress reform to hear that the women of Champery, a primitive mountain district of the Canton Valais, Switzerland, have worn trousers from time immemorial. The Champery region is in the southwestern part of the Canton Valais, the village of Champery itself being at the foot of the Dent du Midi, well known to Lake Geneva tourists.
The men of Champery are noted for their lazy habits, and beyond acting as guides to mountain climbers in the summer months they lead an absolutely idle life. The women perform all the hard labor required of a mountaineering people. It is they who pasture the cattle on the steep and often dangerous Alpine slopes, cut the timber and mow the grass. It is a usual sight to see a Champery woman, her daily toil ended, returning to the village dragging her husband on one of the wooden sleighs in general use throughout Switzerland, her lord and master all the while lazily smoking his pipe.
Under such circumstances it is not surprising that the women of Champery should have adopted the masculine attire. Their costume is of the simplest kind—a jerkin of rough, dark blue material, with trousers to match,
and a red foulard to protect the head.
While desperately practical, nothing more unprepossessing in the way of feminine dress could be imagined than this costume of the Champery dames and damsels. Moreover, these wives and mothers of Champery, who are accustomed to all the work generally supposed to be the lot of the sterner sex, not unaturally seek what consolation they can in masculine comforts.
Chief among these is the short briar pipe, which they all smoke and evidently enjoy as much if not more than their husbands and fathers.—New York Tribune.
POINTED PARAGRAPHS.
Business, like your salary, might always be better.
The croquette is the old fashioned hash ball after it gets into society.
Some people are too insistent on the right to be fools in their own way.
When a young man refuses to work,
that is the beginning of all his other troubles.
When you abuse a boy for being worthless, remember how worthless
you were at his age.
Some people say farming is so much easier than it used to be. Still, if a farmer does his duty even in these days he knows he has a job.
There is a good deal in print about the contagious laugh, but how often do you hear it? The writer of this knows but two people of all his acquaintance who have a laugh that is contagious.—Atchison Globe.
They Cut Both Ways.
Some intelligence offices encourage even the greenest girls to abandon general housework and try for the place of cook, parlor maid, etc., for it increases
the fee, many offices basing this upon the amount of wages paid. This is one explanation of the decreasing number of general housework girls.
They are also responsible for some of the restlessness of employees. Girls are placed in positions and removed when they are needed for others. Some use employees as training schools.
Green foreigners are sent, and when they have learned enough English and housework they are sent to others for higher wages, the office not neglecting to collect the extra fees.
Then they inform the long suffering employer that they understand her girl has left and that they can supply
her need.—Atlantic Monthly.
His Portrait.
A tramp of some little respectability
appeared at a gentleman's door asking alms. "Not today," said the interogated one. "When may I call?" responded the tramp. "Why don't call at all.
I know what you are. I saw your picture on a tin can at the grocery store at the corner." The applicant for a loan sauntered leisurely down to the place and stood viewing the goods in the window. Soon his eye came upon a can of cranberries from the Maine coast. Then the joke flashed on him.
As he meandered away he mumbled
to himself, "Well, that's the neatest way of calling a fellow a lobster that I've struck yet!"
Harcourt and Tennyson.
One of the stories told of the late Sir William Vernon Harcourt relates to a visit at Tennyson's. The poet was one day reading him the lyrics for "The Princess," and when in "Tears, Idle Tears," he came to the line, "The earliest pipe of half awakened birds," Harcourt looked up and said, "Ah, I suppose that would be a pipe before breakfast!" Tennyson is said to have received the first a little grumpy.
Molecules.
"What are you studying now?" asked
Mrs. Cumrox.
"We have taken up the subject of molecules," answered her son.
"I hope you will be very attentive and practice constantly. I tried to get your father to wear one, but he couldn't make it stay in his eye."—
Washington Star.

Biglerville, Jan. 16.—Biglerville is not on the boom order but has been growing steadily for several years. During the year 1904 there was spent for municipal improvement about $3,300 by private parties $9,500. This amount includes four new houses and many other improvements to properties made necessary by the street improvements. About three-fourths of a mile of brick and concrete pavements were laid. It will be seen that there was about $12,800 spent. At the present time there are several new houses spoken of for the coming season, with ground broken at the present time for a new cannery factory 212 feet long, to cost $12,800. The factory will be a frame structure, slate roof and will be fitted out with its own electric light plant. A. L. Ridgway has sold his farm to Amos Sillick for $4800 cash. Mr. Ridgway will move to town in the spring. J. C. Walter is making preparation to build a large tank barn on his farm above town in the spring.

Mrs. R. M. Reary spent several days in Carlisle with her sister, Mrs. John Kerr. Roth's and Spangler's new houses are nearing completion. John Jacobs & Bro. are doing the plastering. W. 30 Years Stand By. Mr. N. H. Hazen, North Hero, Vt., writes: "Downs' Elixir has been our standby for coughs, colds, etc., for more than 30 years. We are rarely without it in the house as it always does its work promptly."

Downs' Elixir has been made and sold for more than 70 years, and long ago passed the experimental period. It has been a household remedy so long that people cease to regard it as a patent medicine, but rather as an unfailing family necessity. Get it of any dealer in medicines. Money refunded if not satisfactory. L. M. Buchler. A shoe factory is the latest improvement reported for East Berlin.

Do It To-day.—The time-or-tomorrow what you can do today, is now generally presented in this form: "Do it to-day." That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it to-day—and let that remedy be Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which has been in use for over 35 years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

Geo. Stallsmith has given up his position as freight brakeman on W. M. R. R. and returned to his home near Heidlersburg. RHEUMATISM CURED IN 24 HOURS.—T. J. Blackburne, of Haller & Blackburne, Pittsburg, Pa., says: "A short time since I procured a bottle of Mystic Cure. I got me out of the house in 24 hours. I took to my bed with Rheumatism nine months ago and the Mystic Cure is the only medicine that did me any good. I had five of the best physicians in the city, but I received very little relief from them. I know the Mystic Cure to be what it is represented and take pleasure in recommending it to other poor sufferers." Sold by Peoples Drug Stores.

It gave immediate relief and she was able to walk about in three days. I am sure it saved her life." Sold by People's Drug Store.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best made for colds. Mrs. Cora Walker of Porterville, California. There is no doubt about its being the best. No other will cure a cold so quickly. I presented her with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications she decided it was the most wonderful pain reliever she had ever tried. Challenged Knox's Title. Senator Edward M. Herbst of Berks county well known in Gettysburg, challenged the Governor's appointment of P. C. Knox last week by introducing the following resolution in the State Senate: WHEREAS, Article 11, section 4, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania provides that in case of a vacancy in the office of United States Senator from this Commonwealth, in a recess between sessions, the Governor shall convene the two houses by proclamation on notice not exceeding sixty days to fill the same: WHEREAS, such a vacancy did occur during the summer of 1904, by the death of Hon. M. S. Quay, and the two Houses were not convened by the Governor, but an appointment was made by him, for which there is no warrant in the Constitution of Pennsylvania; therefore, RESOLVED, That the Senate of Pennsylvania deplores this infringement upon the rights of the Legislative Department by the Executive, and condemns as usurpation the act of making an appointment, the right to do which is by the Constitution of Pennsylvania vested solely and alone in the two Houses.

There was no question that resolution was legally and constitutionally right but the Machine whipped the party in line, killed debate by a motion to table and tabled by a vote of 32 to 5.

A Good Dog Story. The following dog story comes from John Keagy of Conowingo township, Adams County. For years Mr. Keagy has had two dogs who became boon companions and were never separated, wherever one went the other was sure to follow, and they were never known to have disagreed or engaged in a canine quarrel. About two weeks ago one of the dogs died and the lifeless body was placed on a sled and removed to a field some distance from the house and buried. The other dog jumped on the sled and accompanied his late companion to the place of burial, and displayed unmistakable signs of grief as he viewed the disposition of the remains. Since then the dog has made daily visits to the "unhallowed mound" moaning piteously for some sign of recognition from his departed companion.
